“ Angie and I were cousins (distant, but cousins nonetheless). The last time I saw her in person was in May 2021 for cousin Charles Goff's service at Travis Park. We exchanged mobile phone numbers after the service and engaged in "good" conversation. That was the longest she and I had ever spoken. It was good to get caught up with her side of the family and vice versa.

During the mid to late 1980s, I would often see her when she visited the former Corner Pocket in Saluda. That was a common "watering hole" in Saluda at that time. My father was a frequent visitor of this establishment, too.

I would also see her at the Goff "reunion" (held at her mother's former Saluda residence on West Church Street). It was good to see her along with James Edward and Charles and their spouses. It was also nice to see her mother, Judy, as well. I know Angie had siblings. I met them over the years as well. I know she was married and had some children. I hope I can maintain contact with them despite living out of state.

Although we were not what others would call "close," she and I were still kin. And, that is all that matters. I know I will miss the opportunity of seeing Angie when I return to Saluda for family visits. There is just something about that "Goff family bond" that I just cannot explain.

May Angie rest in peace. I hope to see her standing at the pearly gates to greet me when my it's time for my "homecoming."
