“ Deborah's strong faith in the Lord is what I will remember the most. She told me several years ago when I asked how she was able to keep the faith while battling cancer and she said: "It's a win win situation, If I live that is wonderful for I will get to be with my family, but if I die that is still wonderful because I will be at home with Jesus." She was a special friend, was a wonderful Sunday school teacher (the kids loved her so much), and had a strong dedication to the choir. She had a beautiful strong voice which will be greatly missed. I know in my heart that she is rejoicing with the Lord and singing with the Angels. My prayers are with the family. RIP my special friend until we meet again.
