“ Horace's mother and mine were sisters, and I recall with fond memories the time our families exchanged visits. Horace and I were from large families. His family lived on a farm, and we lived in a small town not far away. I looked forward to the summers when I would sometimes spend a week with his family. I felt honored and privileged to have been invited to enjoy the wonderful opportunities that Horace's family afforded me to enjoy life on his family's farm. As a young girl, it was a very enriching experience for me. It was like a new and different world in my young days that I appreciated so much. The last time I was with Horace was at the last Ruff Reunion in 2018, at Salem Baptist church on the Denny Highway. I always admired Horace's kindness, gentleness, and soft-spoken demeanor. He was always the same, and one of my favorite cousins. He reminded me again at the reunion that he had held me and rocked me when I was a baby, as though that memory from such a long time ago were special to him. I will miss Horace very much, and find comfort in knowing he is now resting in the arms of Jesus.

“ Our condolences to Horace’s family. It has been several years since we would stop by to see him and thank him for his friendship with us and my parents. Day would only rent our pastures to Horace because he knew how to maintain the land. I was happy Horace bought the pastures after Mon & Dad passed. It was always a pleasure talking with him about old times when we came back each summer. We know he is now with our Lord in Heaven.
