To the Family of Whitney McGee, I am so sorry and sickened for the loss of sweet Whitney. She was always laughing and lovable and ready to have fun. She kept me in stitches with her her wild stories and crazy fashion! My heart aches for everyone. It just isn't right, but I know God has a plan. May God wrap his loving arms around your family during these troubled times. Keep God in your heart and speak to him endlessly, because he does have you. Love ya'll so much.

“ Eddie, Kayla and family.

I have no words to express how sorry I am.

All I can think of is Whitney and the kids riding and having so much fun on all the trail rides.

The best part of going to the Big Red ride was to see the Goldman family. Then they all become their own families.

Whitney had blossomed into this beautiful wife and mother.

If she was 1/2 as good at being them as she could ride a horse then she was outstanding. Whitney was such a caring young lady.

Why? I know GOD has a plan, but why her?

I guess he needed a beautiful Angel with a lot of determination to protect you all here on earth.

" Whitney may your soul be at ease, your love shine down in the rays of the Sun to warm your family. Ride free. Pick any spunky Horse or Mule you would like to ride. Say hi to Terry McCutchen and so many that are free from this crazy place we call life.

Prayers
